DIFFERENTIATORS

- Technical DNA: Founded and led by former software engineers, so requirements are screened by people who have done the work, fewer unqualified submittals, and less engineering time spent on interviews.
- Contract-Timeline Urgency: Built for compressed post-award timelines. Sourcing begins immediately at kickoff, and qualified slates are delivered promptly under pressing time constraints, supporting the staffing milestones that follow notification of award.
- Clearance-Aware Discipline: Clearance, citizenship, work authorization, location and program fit confirmed before submittal, reducing mismatches and rework late in the hiring cycle.
- Targeted Candidate Delivery: Short, fully vetted slates built to the requirement and its constraints rather than volume, so hiring managers review qualified candidates instead of screening resumes.
- Federal-Facing Market Focus: Built exclusively for companies that build, sell and deliver government technology, so labor categories, clearance levels and program vocabulary need no translation.
- Small-Business Readiness: Procurement-ready documentation on hand for vendor review, subcontracting conversations and onboarding, keeping teaming paperwork off the critical path.
